

To: Peter Rolla, chair
ALA/ALCTS/CaMMS Committee on Cataloging: Description and Access

From: Dan Lipcan, Task Force on Relationship Designators in RDA Appendix K

Subject: Task Force Report and Appendix K Revision Proposal

Charge: Propose changes to the list of relationship designators in RDA Appendix K to enrich the vocabulary used to specify relationships between persons, families, and corporate bodies. The task force should review the relationship types used in the Union List of Artist Names and any other relevant vocabularies.

Task Force members: Dan Lipcan, Robert Maxwell, Randy Roeder, Adam Schiff, Kathy Winzer, Bob Wolverton.

CC:DA recommendations:

1. For each term:
  - a. Identify where prepositions are needed and omit when deemed unnecessary.
  - b. Include and label the reciprocal relationship at the end of the definition as in Appendix J.
  - c. Nest hierarchical and/or narrower terms under the ‘parent’ term as in Appendix J.
2. Use gender specific terms to each of the currently gender neutral terms, nesting these to show hierarchy.
3. For terms in the K.1 general guidelines section, enter specific definitions (i.e. personal member, corporate member) under the sections for the appropriate relationship.

Task Force report:

The Task Force has incorporated the recommendations above as well as suggestions provided by CC:DA members, representatives and liaisons during the 2013 Midwinter meeting.

Many thanks to the Task Force members for their work on the proposal.

Proposed revisions

Editorial note: Because this is a complete revision of Appendix K, it is presented with only limited mark-up. All changes are highlighted in yellow; deletions are indicated by strike-through, but additions other than examples are highlighted, but not underlined (except in a few cases).

APPENDIX K :

Relationship Designators: Relationships Between Persons, Families, and Corporate Bodies

K.0 Scope

This appendix provides general guidelines on using relationship designators to specify relationships between persons, families, and corporate bodies, and lists relationship designators used for that purpose.

~~The relationship designators in this appendix are provisional. They will be reviewed and revised as necessary.~~

K.1 General Guidelines on Using Relationship Designators

The defined scope of a relationship element provides a general indication of the relationship between persons, families, and corporate bodies (e.g., related person, related corporate body). If the relationship element is considered sufficient for the purposes of the agency creating the data, do not use a relationship designator to indicate the specific nature of the relationship.

Relationship designators provide more specific information about the nature of the relationship (e.g. alternate identity, predecessor).

Use relationship designators at the level of specificity that is considered appropriate for the purposes of the agency creating the data. For example, the relationship between a person and the family descended from that person can be recorded using either the specific relationship designator progenitor or the more general relationship designator family member.

If none of the terms listed in this appendix is appropriate or sufficiently specific, use another concise term to indicate the nature of the relationship.

Some relationships are not specific to persons, families or corporate bodies. These relationships can be used in more than one section. In some cases the reciprocal is the same.

associated with A person, family, or corporate body associated with another person, family, or corporate body in a generic way. Use when no more specific designator is appropriate. Reciprocal relationship: associated with collaborated with A person, family, or corporate body that collaborated with or worked together in some way with another person, family, or corporate body. Reciprocal relationship: collaborated with distinguished from A person, family, or corporate body that has often been confused with another person, family, or corporate body in scholarly literature. Reciprocal relationship: distinguished from

event organizer A person, family, or corporate body responsible for organizing an event (e.g., a conference, a concert, an exhibition). Reciprocal relationship: organized event

formerly related to A person, family, or corporate body that was formerly related to another person, family, or corporate body but the relationship no longer exists because the situation has changed or because the state of scholarship regarding the appropriateness of the relationship has changed. Reciprocal relationship: formerly related to influenced A person, family, or corporate body that was influenced by another person, family, or corporate body. Reciprocal relationship: influenced by influenced by A person, family, or corporate body that influenced another person, family, or corporate body. Reciprocal relationship: influenced named for A person, family, or corporate body whose name is used by another person or corporate body. Reciprocal relationship: namesake namesake A person, family, or corporate body specifically named after another person or corporate body. Reciprocal relationship: named for organized event An event (e.g., a conference, a concert, an exhibition) organized by a person, family, or corporate body. Reciprocal relationship: event organizer

possibly identified with A person, family, or corporate body that may possibly be the same entity as another person, family, or corporate body, but which has not yet been firmly established and accepted. Reciprocal relationship: possibly identified with related to A person, family, or corporate body is related in some way to another person, family or corporate body, but the specific nature of the relationship is not known or cannot be specified. Reciprocal relationship: related to
